NINTH REGT. COMPLIMENTED
FOR ITS RELIEF WORK.

CAMP BANCROFT, SOUTH FRAMINGHAM, July 26.—Wednesday was the first day that the 9th infantry, M.V.M., now performing its tour of duty here, was able to settle down to its camp work, the regiment being relieved from duty at the scene of the Amersham building disaster under the present issued by the selectmen of Framingham at 11.40 a. m.

It was expected that the regiment would receive a visit from Mayor Fitzgerald of Boston and Col. Donovan was prepared to tender him a review, but the mayor was late and all the ceremonies of the day were over when he arrived.

The day was a delightful one for work and Col. Donovan embraced every moment of it for the instruction of the regiment. After the usual setting up drill, polling of camp and regular morning inspection by the surgeons the regiment was ordered out for out-post duty and advance and rear guard work and the whole forenoon was put in in this most important duty. The 2d battalion remained on the field under command of Maj. J. Sullivan and gave a very interesting demonstration of advance and rear guard movements with Capt. Davis, USA, as instructor.

In the meantime the 1st battalion, under Maj. George F. H. Murray, and the 3d, under Capt. John H. Dunn, had taken to the woods in the vicinity of the camp and the companies were instructed in outpost duty.

Their efforts were really rehearsals of what will take place on Friday, when a little more realism will be given to the scene by the firing of blank ammunition.

The advance and rear guard demonstration on the field was very interesting to the men, inasmuch as every one could see what the others were doing.

After a very satisfactory forenoon's work, the commands returned for dinner and a rest.

Assembly for evening parade was delayed until 4.45. The ceremony was a very fair exhibition, by far the best of the week. The men were remarkably steady, and the march past was good. Alignments and distances were well maintained, and, with one exception, salutes were timely given.

Just as the order for the column to march was given, Maj. Murray's horse became restive and, seizing the bit between his teeth, bolted. After going about 100 yards the horse found a soft spot and dropped off. He immediately took his place at the head of the column on foot and marched past with his battalion.

Guard mount followed the parade, and with the exception of an error by the drum major in wheeling his band before Acting Adj. Casey had passed the guard over, the ceremony was a good one.

The objection to having guard mount take place immediately after evening parade are that sufficient attention is not given to personnel and distance and the details before leaving the company streets, and the men appear tired.

A few minutes after guard mount was over, Mayor Fitzgerald and party rode up in an auto to Gen. Whitney's quarters, where he was received by the post commander and invited to mess with the officers.

After supper Col. Donovan sent over the field music to denote the mayor and his friends over to the line.

At regimental headquarters the mayor held an informal reception, and in a brief address complimented the officers and men for their humane work in connection with the Amersham disaster. He thanked them in behalf of the city of Boston, and said it was only what everyone expected from the 9th.

As a result of a communication received from the selectmen of Framingham, Gen. Whitney issued the following order to the regiment:

Headquarters 2d Brigade, M.V.M., South Framingham, July 25, 11.40 a. m. Special orders, No. 24.

In consequence of a communication received this day, date and hour, at post headquarters, "Camp Bancroft," from the selectmen of the town of Framingham, the 9th infantry, M.V.M., is hereby relieved of all duty for guard and labor, ordered in compliance with a precept issued by the selectmen of the town of Framingham under date of July 23, 1906.

The post commander is gratified to publish, as a section of these orders, a quotation from the above mentioned communication, as follows:

"We voice the sentiments of the citizens of Framingham, when we commend you and your officers and men for the prompt and efficient service rendered by you and your men."

The post commander takes this opportunity to express his personal acknowledgment to the commander of the 9th regt. infantry, M.V.M., for the earnest work which the officers and men of the regiment performed in their attempt to save life and relieve suffering in connection with the disaster which took place at 4 p. m. on July 23, 1906, in South Framingham, whereby so many valuable lives were sacrificed.

The post commander hereby publishes his gratification to all officers and enlisted men connected with the post at Camp Bancroft for the prompt and willing work which they performed in connection with this emergency call, and for their loyal support of him and his staff officers when the exigencies of the occasion prompted them to overlook strict military courtesy.

By command of
Brig. Gen. Whitney.

Morton E. Cobb, Lieut. Col. and Asst. Adj. Gen.

Among the visitors to camp was Mayor Casey of Lowell, who was a guest of Capt. McNulty and the officers of Co. M.

The military guests included Lieut. Col. Edward H. Eldredge, Capt. I. C. Whitney, Capt. Staples, Maj. Frank A. Graves, Maj. J. G. Moynihan of Worcester, retired; Lieut. Peter F. O'Shea and Lieut. John P. O'Shea.

The detail was: Capt. McKell, Co. K, officer of the day; Lieut. Odenmatt, Co. H, and Galvin, Co. E, officers of the guard.

There is a possibility that Col. Donovan may order a parade of the regiment in Boston after camp is broken Saturday.

HARVARD CREW WILL ROW IN ENGLAND.

The Harvard university crew which defeated Yale at New London last June will sail for England next Friday, and unless the date is changed, will on Saturday, Sept. 15, row a race with the Cambridge university, eight which beat Oxford last spring. The race will be rowed over the regular Cambridge-Oxford course, extending from Putney to Mortlake on the Thames; the distance is about four and a quarter miles. The Harvard and Cambridge crews will be made up exactly as they were in the races against Yale and Oxford respectively.

Correspondence in regard to a contest between these two eights has been carried on by mail and cable for some time. The overtures were made by the American oarsmen. It should be said in the first place, that the race will not be rowed for the sake of determining the international championship or anything of the kind. The Harvard men willingly concede the first place in this country to Cornell, and make no pretensions to superiority over any crew but Yale. The race on the English Thames will be for sport's sake. Incidentally the Harvard oarsmen hope to learn from their English opponents something about rowing.

Capt. Filley and his associates on the Harvard crew have had a good deal of fun out of their rowing in the past two seasons. A year ago, after the New London race, in which Harvard was beaten by Yale by about 10 feet, nearly all the Harvard oarsmen went to Philadelphia to row in the regatta held in that city July 4.

After the race with Yale last month the Harvard men at first thought of going to Henley and taking part in the regatta there, but such a trip was out of the question, and then the possibility of a race with Cambridge was suggested. This impulse of the moment was the beginning of the negotiations which have brought about the race next September.

The Harvard men were fortunate in having in England two men who have been closely identified with Harvard rowing. F. L. Higginson Jr., who was captain of the Harvard university crews of 1899 and 1900, is in London, the head of the house of Higginson, Tottle and Co., a branch of Lee, Higginson and Co. of Boston. Mr. Higginson naturally felt great interest in the proposed race between Harvard and Cambridge, and at once became active in the matter.

An even more valuable Harvard ally on English soil was Rudolph C. Lehman. Mr. Lehman was himself a Cambridge oar in his undergraduate days, and since then he has been a famous coach. In 1897 and '98, as most people will remember, he came to this country and coached the Harvard university eight. He made many close friendships in America and married an American girl. He is now a member of parliament, and this year has not had much time for coaching, but when the race between Harvard and Cambridge was suggested he at once took hold and it was chiefly through his efforts that the contest was finally arranged.

The Harvard representatives on the other side of the water have been for several weeks in communication with the undergraduate and graduate oarsmen here, but a thousand and one things are still to be settled; almost the only thing definitely fixed is that there is to be a race.

BOSTON, July 25.—By cable messages exchanged yesterday, it was decided that the race of the Harvard varsity crew with the Cambridge crew will be rowed on the Thames Sept. 8, instead of Sept. 15 as at first decided. The Cambridge men said that either date would be satisfactory to them, but it was found the tide conditions would be better on the 8th. On the 15th the race would have to take place in the morning, but it can be rowed on the afternoon of the 8th. The races on the English Thames are rowed upstream on the flood tide.

The chance in the date of the race is a little unfortunate for Harvard, because Morgan, who will not sail from this country until after Aug. 15, will not arrive in England until after Aug. 23, at the latest, and will consequently be away two weeks of work with the crew. He will be in good condition, however, as he will row daily on the Charles. He is an unusually strong, robust and enduring oarsman. The other Harvard men will probably have had time to become accustomed to the English climate but whether two weeks will be enough to acclimate Morgan is doubtful.

American athletes who go to England to compete in contests find that they must do one of two things—either they must be there long enough to acclimate themselves to the change, or else they must be there so short a time that they hardly begin to feel the effect of the climate. Morgan may find himself midway between these two safe courses, but the Harvard men are confident that the professional attendance of Dr. T. J. Manahan, Jr., in whom they have great confidence, will keep the No. 3 man in trim. Until Morgan arrives in England, Faulkner who was captain and No. 1 man in the freshman shell at New London last June, will probably row three in the Harvard eight. It is the fixed intention of Capt. Filley and his advisers, however, that the Harvard crew that rows against Cambridge shall be the same one that defeated Yale at New London last June.

Advices from England indicate that the Harvard men will stay at Bourne End on the Thames, above Windsor, and not very far from London until the race. This is being left entirely to R. C. Lehman and F. L. Higginson Jr., who are familiar with the conditions on the other side of the water, and the visiting oarsmen will probably be in ignorance of their exact destination until they touch at the wharf in Liverpool. The Cedric, the boat in which the five men on this side sail on Friday, should in the ordinary course of events arrive late Saturday, Aug. 4, and there will be time on that day only to go to London.

Nothing definite has yet been heard from James Wray, the Harvard coach, who is now in Detroit, where he is coach at the Detroit rowing club, and there is a possibility that he may not be able to sail on the Cedric. It will make little difference if he takes the next steamer, as the oarsmen intend to take things easy for several days after they land. Wray will doubtless be on hand by the time he is needed. When he went to Detroit there was an understanding that he could come away if his services were demanded by Harvard.

"Good morning, Mrs. Yvetot, said Mrs. Stonehenge, leaning over the wall of the moat between their houses. "Could you lend me your heavy hammer, your pliers and four or five rivets, and your cold chisel?" "Certainly," replied Mrs. Yvetot, going into the house and fetching out the desired articles. "Are you doing some sewing for the children?" "No, Mr. Stonehenge ripped his Sunday trousers on a barbed wire, and I want to mend them. I had kept a sample of the iron they are made of."—Seattle

KEEPING TAB ON THE WORLD

Peasant Revolt Spreads Over Central Russia—Several Cities Burned and Thousands Homeless—Duma Adopts Agrarian Address to People and Fears Forcible Dissolution—Central American Republics Begin Peace Conference on U. S. Warship After Brief Period of War.

FOREIGN

Brief Central American War.

At the very moment that a peace envoy from Guatemala had started for Washington to discuss terms of arbitration with agents of the neighboring republics, July 12, the forces of Honduras and Salvador crossed the border into Guatemala and gave battle. General Regalado, commander of Salvador's army, was killed. President Bonilla of Honduras insisted that his territory had been invaded by a Guatemalan army. Two days later Salvador attacked the Guatemalans at Platinar and won a decisive victory. Guatemala's killed and wounded numbering 2,000. Immediately the good offices of the American government in conjunction with those of Mexico were offered, and the contending republics agreed to an armistice beginning at 6 o'clock a. m. July 16 and commissioners on each side were appointed to meet on the United States cruiser Marblehead, which had been ordered from Panama to the waters of Guatemala. In the several battles Salvador was victorious, but lost 700 killed and 1,100 wounded, while Guatemala lost 2,800 killed and 3,000 wounded.

To Reduce British Army.
Plans for the reorganization of the British army as announced by Secretary of War Haldane contemplate a reduction of 20,000 in the regular forces, thus taking the long talked of step toward disarmament. To re-enforce the regular army an expeditionary force of 150,000 men trained for the service is to be organized, corresponding somewhat to our state militia.

A Minister For Wales.
In the house of commons the government proposed the creation of a minister for Wales. The programme was adopted 279 to 50, although it came without warning.

Germany Bans Our Meat.
The German government, apparently not greatly impressed by the new American inspection law, has decided to enforce a new and more stringent inspection law against American meat products after Sept. 15. Cuts of fresh beef will have to be examined microscopically to see if the glands bear tuberculous symptoms. Inasmuch as American refrigerator meat has the glands removed the effect will be virtually to exclude American products. The shipment of canned meats to South Africa will also be stopped.

Trade Treaty With Spain.
It was announced at Madrid that a commercial treaty between Spain and the United States had been agreed upon, the former having conceded an important reduction on imported Spanish wines, pictures, etc., in return for concessions on certain American goods.

Russian Peasants Beyond Control.
The uprising of peasants which began in the province of Voronezh had overspread a large part of central Russia by the first of the week and was beyond the control of available troops. Great masses of the peasantry marched in column through the country, burning and looting the estates and driving out the landed proprietors. For fear of being surrounded the troops retreated. In the province of Tula hordes of peasants camped along the railroads and prevented the passage of all trains. Many factories were closed owing to the refusal of men to work, and the ordering of a general strike was anticipated. In their blind fury the peasants appeared not to discriminate between the property of friends and enemies. Among the estates devastated was that of M. Kokoshkine, a prominent Constitutional Democrat in the duma. The city of Syzran was burned by incendiaries, and 40,000 people had to flee homeless. Other towns were burning.

The adoption by the duma of an address to the country was expected to precipitate civil war inasmuch that it was known that the czar at last had decided to rely on physical force and the army rather than make the concessions demanded by the parliament. His faith in the army is said to have been strengthened by assurances that the forces in the far east are ready to fight the revolutionists. The reactionaries argue that it is better to bring on the test now than to wait longer for the revolutionary propaganda further to undermine the loyalty of the troops. An overt threat against the duma was made when a body of picked troops occupied the barracks adjoining the Tauride palace in which the duma meets. Intense pessimism prevailed on the Stock Exchange.

General Stoessel to Be Shot.
The Russian Commission appointed to investigate the surrender of Port Arthur has recommended that General Stoessel in command of that fortress, be dismissed from the army and shot, and that General Fock, second in command, be sent to prison for one year.

EXECUTIVE

Rate Law Becomes Effective.
The first step for the enforcement of the new railroad rate law has been taken by the Interstate commerce commission, which has ordered an expert to appraise and fix a value on every railroad in the United States that the commission may determine whether any rate is reasonable and just. Professor Henry C. Adams of the University of Michigan and statistician for the interstate commerce commission has been invited to enter the employ of the commission to devise a uniform system of bookkeeping for all the railroads and to appraise their value. The new system, it is hoped, will be in operation by July 1, 1907, and the roads will be required to observe a fiscal year corresponding to that of the government.

Cramps to Build Battleships.
Secretary Bonaparte has awarded to William Cramp & Sons of Philadelphia the contract to build the 16,000 ton battleship South Carolina, and the contract for the Michigan, which must be completed in forty months, he has given to the New York Shipbuilding company of Camden, N. J. These contractors were the lowest bidders and will receive respectively $3,540,000 and $3,585,000. The construction of these two fighters on the Delaware river will give steady employment to 15,000 for three years ahead.

Shaw's Financial Move.
Secretary Shaw has designated a number of national banks as government depositories and notified them that the bonds to secure deposits should be placed with the government at once. At the same time he has called the loan made to various institutions with state and municipal bonds as security to the amount of $10,000,000. This had to be paid in on or before the 20th, the date of sale of the new Panama bonds. The treasury will leave on deposit with the banks at least one-third of the amount of the Panama issue.

Great Demand For Dimes.
An extraordinary demand for ten cent pieces has developed within the past week or two, so that United States Treasurer Treat said that he was unable to meet it and that the mints would have to be set to work. The cry for dimes comes from every part of the country, and there has been nothing like it in the history of the country. One theory of the shortage held by the treasury official is that the people are so prosperous that they carry the loose change in their pockets in order to hear it jingle.

Extension of Crop Reporting.
The scope of the work of the bureau of statistics under the department of agriculture has been extended to include alfalfa, hemp, broom corn, Kafir corn, sorghum, blue grass, millet, sugar beets, Canadian peas, cowpeas, beans, cabbages, onions, tomatoes, apples, lemons, blackberries, raspberries, strawberries, cantaloupes, watermelons and peanuts. Reports will be issued in future on all of these crops in accordance with arrangements about to be perfected by the secretary of agriculture.

To Recover Utah Coal Lands.
The attorney general and the secretary of the interior have given instructions for filing a series of civil suits to recover coal lands in Utah said to have been fraudulently acquired.

Census of Marriage and Divorce.
Between 200 and 300 clerks are about to be sent into the field in every state by the census bureau to collect statistics of marriage and divorce.

To Furnish Up Miss Liberty.
The statue of Liberty on Bedloe's island, New York harbor, whose bronze plates have been corroding under the influence of the salt sea air, is soon to be painted and her approaches finished, congress having appropriated $62,800 for this purpose; also an electric elevator is to be put in to carry visitors from the base to the torch.

Alcohol For Gas Engines.
The department of agriculture has engaged Professor Charles E. Lucke of Columbia university to collect all existing data concerning the possibilities of alcohol in the operation of small gas engines and to conduct experiments in the production of alcohol from grain and potatoes.

POLITICAL

Gompers and Cannon to Meet.
It is announced that President Gompers of the American Federation of Labor will take the stump in Maine against the re-election of Representative Littlefield, who has been regarded by the labor leaders as unfriendly to their proposed legislation. At the same time it is made known that Speaker Cannon will speak in Littlefield's district to defend him from the attacks of the labor organization. The speaker says that he will make definite reply to the "bill of grievance" which the Federation of Labor is sending out broadcast. Mr. Gompers predicts that in the Sixtieth congress some of the familiar faces will be missing. Every candidate for congress will be requested to reply to the circular letter as to his position on labor legislation, and if the answers are not satisfactory the candidate in question will be put on organized labor's black list.

Poll Tax Amendment Void.
Attorney General Rogers of Arkansas has startled the Democratic party of that state by giving his opinion that the poll tax amendment to the constitution had never been legally adopted. This amendment provided that every voter must pay a tax of $1, and it thus practically disfranchised 20,000 poor negroes in the black belt. The opinion is expected to increase the Republican vote by that number.

Jerome Criticizes President.
Before a meeting of Georgia lawyers at Warm Springs, Ga., District Attorney Jerome of New York made an address in which he asserted that President Roosevelt was not competent to criticize the judges as he had done. This statement was loudly applauded by the lawyers, and at the conclusion of his speech Jerome received a great ovation. He also criticised the newspapers on the ground of their inaccurate and partisan reports of public occurrences.

LEGAL-CRIMINAL

St. Louis Sues Ice Trust.
After an extended investigation the city of St. Louis, through Circuit Attorney Sager, begun suit against the Polar Wave Ice and Fuel company and the Merchants' Ice and Coal company, alleging that they are in a combination to restrain trade and to fix the price of ice. Judgment was asked for $71,400 against each as fines for the 714 days during which the agreement is alleged to have been in effect.

Dead Official's Shortage.
In the accounts of the late Major George A. Bartlett, who for twenty-five years was the chief disbursing officer of the United States treasury, a shortage of $33,000 has been discovered, which his bondsmen, the Fidelity and Deposit company of Baltimore, will have to make good. The shortage includes $14,000 which Bartlett paid on fraudulent requisitions presented by James W. Boyd, a marine hospital clerk, who was arrested last September and now awaits trial.

Standard Inquiry at Chicago.
The government transferred the inquiry into the operations of the oil trust from Cleveland to Chicago. It was understood that the grand jury at Cleveland was not satisfactory to the government on account of the personal or business relations of some of the jurors to interested parties.

H. H. Rogers Loses Suit.
At least half of $4,500,000 profit made in the New England Gas and Bay State Gas deal nearly ten years ago must be refunded to the receiver of the Bay State Gas company by Henry H. Rogers, vice president of the Standard Oil company, according to a decision rendered by Judge Putnam in the federal court at Boston. He will appeal.

Hargis and Callahan Free.
The jury at Beattyville, Ky., brought in a verdict of "Not guilty" in the case of Hargis and Callahan, the men charged with the murder of J. B. Marcum. For this murder Curtis Jett and Tom White were convicted and sentenced to life terms. Jett confessed that he shot Marcum and that his act was inspired by Hargis and Callahan, but later contradicted himself.

Newspapers Part of Government.
Judge Sulzberger of the Philadelphia court of common pleas, in resisting the desire of the grand jury to indict a street cleaning contractor, announced the doctrine that the newspapers are a fundamental part of the government. "If a member of a grand jury has any criticisms to make of administrative matters," he said, "he should go to a newspaper with them and not endeavor to transform the grand jury into a machine for investigations on its own account." He says that the constitution recognizes the press as a critical agent and that it is its duty to find out evils and bring them to the attention of the proper authorities.

Lawyer Held in Murder Case.
The mystery concerning the murder of Mrs. Alice Kinnan in the veranda of her home, June 8, was not cleared up by the coroner's inquiry, but Lawyer Burton N. Gibson, formerly counsel for the murdered woman and her aged mother, Mrs. Stenton, was held for further examination under $25,000 bail. Gibson admitted that he owned a large interest in the Kinnan property, but he brought several witnesses to sustain his alibi on the night the crime was committed. Two days later he was discharged on a habeas corpus writ.

Court Halts Thaw Inquiry.
On motion of counsel for Harry Thaw, held at New York for the murder of Stanford White, Supreme Court Justice Blanchard granted an order prohibiting District Attorney Jerome from taking further testimony in the case. This was on the ground that the defense had been denied access to the testimony offered by witnesses. Notwithstanding that the accused man had summarily dismissed as counsel the firm of ex-Judge Olcott and had engaged Clifford W. Hartridge, Mrs. Thaw, the mother, insisted on retaining the Olcott firm, which had been in favor of making the plea of insanity. Mr. Thaw's wife and mother called on him in the Tombs together, thus disproving stories of their unpleasant relations. After a court order had been secured to compel Olcott to surrender the papers to Hartridge the latter secured the documents.

METHUEN.

MANY WASHOUTS REPORTED.

Highway Surveyor Robert W. Dow reports that the thunder shower of Saturday night was the most destructive to the roads of any since he has been at the head of the street departments. The torrents of water that fell during the shower flooded the streets and washed out the road beds, clogging the gutters with mud and rubbish. In some places about town, especially at Railroad square, Ephraim corner, and other places there was from six inches to a foot of water in the street, making crossings almost impossible and the sidewalks were flooded, a thick deposit of mud being left thereon, when the water receded. But this was not the worst of the matter. Many of the streets were washed out badly, and will require a large force of town men to put in proper repair for travel. On Grove street gullies three feet deep are reported to have been washed out of the middle of the road by the water, while other streets are in nearly as bad shape. Grove street and Hillside street have been closed to travel because of the storm. Other places where damage is reported are: Boston street Miller street, Dewey street, Stevens street the corner of High street, Junction of High and Tremont street, Central street near Hartshorne's residence, Baptist hill, Tenney hill, and other places. The rain washed the gravel into the car track at Central square, causing considerable trouble to electric car traffic for a time. The volume of water in the Spicket was swollen by the rain of Saturday night, and yesterday many enjoyed canoeing up the stream. The water has been too low for some time for the sport on the Spicket.

FLOCKERZIE FUNERAL.

The funeral of Jacob Flockenzie was held Saturday afternoon from his late home, 291 Hampshire roads, Rev. Mr. Lang of the German Presbyterian church in Lawrence officiating. A quartet from the church sang appropriate selections during the services. Many friends and neighbors were in attendance to extend their sympathy to the members of the bereaved family.

Burial took place in Elmwood cemetery. The pall bearers were Thomas Flockenzie, Fred Flockenzie, Franz Demick, Jacob Meister, Samuel Emerson and William Graichen.

NEW "R. F. D." ORDER.

An extract from an article printed in the latest issue of the United States Postal Guide, and which is of direct interest to the patrons of the rural delivery service, reads as follows: "Complaint has been made to the department that the rural carriers, at the request of patrons on their routes, call at express offices for packages of mailable matter and deliver the same, outside of the mails, to their patrons, and receive small fees for the service. "As a result of this complaint, the postmasters of rural delivery offices have been informed by the department that they must direct the carriers not to carry as express packages, either for hire or as a favor, any article of package weighing four pounds or under, and which is of mailable character. And the carriers are also directed to inform their patrons that they can deliver such packages to them only after the regularly required postage has been affixed.

Our boys' pant cloth remnants are not the ordinary cotton and shoddy mixtures. They are the finest, worsted fancies and all wool men's wear serge. Farr's Remnant store, 38 Appleton street, Lawrence.

The Tax Rate.

What has been feared for several years has come at last. The tax rate has passed the $17 mark, and Andover has lost her position so long held as a conservative town.

The loss of a large amount of personal property and the increased appropriations of last March are given as the reasons for the increased rate. Assuming that the assessors have been diligent and thorough in their search for personal property, and we believe they have been both, there is nothing in that situation that could be helped. Several large estates have been divided, and changes in some others have materially affected the amount of taxable investments open to Andover assessors.

It is undoubtedly true that a large amount of taxable personal property is not taxed by the assessors. Such always has been the case, and probably always will be until there is a change in the laws affecting the taxation of personal property. Such a change is bound to come, and is, in fact, looked for at the next session of the legislature, as the result of study now being given to the question. To many the remedy seems to be for a collection of all personal property tax by the State at a uniform rate, with a proper apportionment to the different cities and towns. No plan can be framed that will suit all of the interested parties, but it certainly does look as if some plan might be formulated that would remove the present universal dodging of this lawful assessment.

But the real reason for the increased tax rate is to be found in the cut of the garment rather than the scanty material. We have been for many years pinching the seams and using the very selvages in order to come out whole at the old rate. Those who have been well informed as to town affairs have seen this very situation coming. We have, to put it in a few words, spent too much money at our annual town meetings. Now that the danger signal is set, we will wonder why we voted as we did on some of the more or less foolish calls. And now that the danger signal is set, we may wisely call for down brakes and see that we don't yield to any more foolish calls.

A $17.50 tax rate isn't a bit welcome, but it may be suffered for a year if it shall teach all our citizens that the place to establish a tax rate is in the annual town meeting, and that money voted in March means taxes assessed in August.

Editorial Cinders.

A correspondent in another column touches upon the question of a different location for the railroad station, undoubtedly voicing in his communication the opinions of many citizens. We are free to say that they were the opinions of the writer until he became convinced by a careful examination and a full expert explanation of the plans that the present site is more practicable. To build on the side hill at the foot of School street means a long flight of steps to reach the trains, an encroachment upon the yard of the Smith & Dove Co., and a change in the approach to the station that is called by R. R. officials very unsatisfactory. To build where the present station sets without any change in the street would certainly be a mistake, but to build as is planned with a large outlay to make the street in front wider and well drained seems to promise a splendid improvement to both the town and the railroad.

We referred in this column a few weeks ago to the way in which state highways are wearing out under the grinding wear of automobiles. No better illustration of what we are disturbed over could be found than the stretch of road between Andover and North Reading. It is worn almost to the heavy stones for nearly its entire width and there is urgent need of repairs, notwithstanding the fact that it has been built but a few years. The problem involved is a very serious one, and one that will tax the ingenuity of some pretty good minds before anything is discovered that will keep the macadamized surface intact.

It has been many years since the months of May, June and July were marked by such severe rains. Streams that are usually dry at this time of year are now running freely, and work that had been planned for a "dry time" is still waiting. The most serious result of the heavy rains is on the highways. Washouts of a very serious nature are placing a heavy burden upon the highway department, and it looks as if a large sum of money would have to be spent to repair the damages.

What an undying hold the game of baseball gets upon "Young America." And how easily "Old America" renews his youth under the inspiration of a lively ball and a snappy bat! It is, indeed, the national game.

HIGH TAX RATE

Advance of $1.50 per Thousand Over Last Year—Rate will be $17.50.

At the regular meeting of the Selectmen, held on Monday, the tax rate for 1906 was fixed at $17.50 per $1000. This is an advance of $1.50 over last year, when the rate was $16 per $1000. For the past five years the rate has been the same, having changed in 1900, when it was $15.50 per $1000.

The reasons given for the large increase are that there has been an enormous shrinkage in real and personal estate during the past year, especially in the deaths of two of Andover's wealthiest people, that a sewerage note of $5000 comes due this year, and that $10,000 more than usual was appropriated at the last Town meeting.

The Special Town Meeting.

The articles in the Town warrant, which will be discussed on next Wednesday evening, are very important and in all probability there will be a large attendance. The most important article which will be discussed will be the change of location of School street for the proposed railroad station.

Another important question will be: To see if the Town will accept the gift of Twenty-five thousand Dollars ($25,000) made by the will of Mrs. Helen G. Coburn to form a permanent endowment fund for Memorial Hall.

The third article, which is probably of no less importance than the two previous, will be: To see if the Town will vote to allow a certain lot of land on Corbett street to be used as a cemetery for the purpose of burial.

All these articles are of exceptional interest to the citizens, and it is expected that much discussion will be the result.

Christian Endeavor Union

The mid-summer meeting of the Andover Christian Endeavor Union was held at the North Andover Congregational church Tuesday evening. A large number of members of the Andover and Ballard Vale societies were present, the latter society being conveyed to and from North Andover in Ammon Richardson's barge. The Free church society secured the banner, for the first time in three years, being the largest attending society. Judge Newton P. Frye opened the meeting with prayer, followed by scripture reading. At the business meeting the executive committee of the Union was given power to choose a delegate to attend the meeting of the Christian Endeavor Societies at Newburyport in September. It was also voted to donate $5 to the San Francisco Christian Endeavor society. Following the business meeting a very interesting address on "Bible Study" was delivered by Rev. W. E. Lombard of the Baptist church. The closing hour was a social one, refreshments being served by the home society.

The next meeting will be held with the Free church society the date to be announced later.

A Severe Thunder Storm.

During one of the worst thunder showers that has visited Andover this summer the barn of F. Homer Foster, on Central street, was struck by a bolt of lightning about half past seven last Saturday evening. That no damage was done seems almost miraculous, but as it was not even a shingle was disturbed. A large ball of fire was seen by many of the neighbors descending from the clouds, which landed on the cupola and fell onto the roof of the barn. From there it rolled off onto the grass.

Fearing that some damage would be done, the fire department was called by telephone and the entire apparatus responded. The rain at this time was coming down in torrents and the men and horses received a thorough drenching. When the arrival was made at the scene after a long, hard run, it was found that their services were not needed and they at once returned to the engine house.

Considerable damage was done in the streets by the rain, many washouts, being reported, the worst of which was probably on Walnut avenue, between Maple avenue and High street. Here the flow of water was so great that the street was torn up and great ruts were made.

The centre of town resembled a pond, and one of the citizens thought that we had Venice beaten for waterways.

New Real Estate Atlas.

It will undoubtedly be a matter of interest to many of our citizens to learn that a new Real Estate Atlas of Lawrence, Methuen, North Andover and Andover has just been published. Made from actual surveys by competent engineers an accurate work has been secured, which will be greatly appreciated by those needing such a map.

It was not the original intention of the publishers to include Andover in the atlas, but through the influence of the Merrimack Insurance Company, which company agreed to stand behind them if Andover was given a place, an excellent map of our town was secured.

Any desiring information concerning the atlas may obtain same at office of the Insurance Company.

Silver Wedding.

On Saturday last, a very pleasant evening was spent at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nairn of 41 Lowell street, the occasion being the celebration of their silver wedding. About forty guests were present from Andover, Dedham, and Lynn. Mr. and Mrs. Nairn were the recipients of many handsome presents suitable to the occasion. The evening was pleasantly spent with song and selections by a graphophone operated by David Waldie. Refreshments were served during the evening. The gathering broke up with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

Held for Superior Court.

A well known young man from North Andover was tried before Judge Colver J. Stone on Monday evening, on the charge of disturbing the peace on Essex street, on Sunday evening. The arrest was made by Officer Jaquith about nine o'clock and the disturber was locked up. He was later bailed out by friends.

The trial was held in Judge Stone's office at 7:30 o'clock and the defendant was represented by Lawyer Mahoney of North Andover. Seven witnesses were sworn and the first one to testify was Frank L. Cole, who said he was sitting on his piazza about nine o'clock when he heard some young men coming up the street and stop about forty feet from his house. He then heard a bottle break as if thrown by one of the party and heard some very profane language. Officer Jaquith then happened along and he spoke to him about the disturbance and the latter left him. He said he could not recognize any of the young men.

James Abercrombie was then called and he corroborated the statements of Mr. Cole and said he could not tell if the defendant was causing the disturbance or not.

Officer Jaquith was the next witness and he said he had been annoyed every Sunday night by young men who came from North Andover and Lawrence and on Sunday evening his attention was attracted to this particular crowd and that he had been following them all the evening. He said that he heard some very profane language and that just before the arrest he saw the defendant kick a hat which was worn by one of the party. He claimed that he arrested the defendant as the leader in the fracas.

The defendant was then called and he testified that he and a friend had come to Andover on the electric cars and that he had enjoyed a walk for about an hour on the hill. A few minutes before he was arrested he was walking up Essex street when he met a party of friends from North Andover and all stopped and talked for a few minutes. One of the party was badly under the influence of liquor, and after a few minutes' conversation, he threw his own hat to the ground and kicked it into the street. It was at this point that the arrest was made.

Four other witnesses testified for the defendant and all corroborated the statements made.

Lawyer Mahoney then made an eloquent plea for the defendant, claiming that it was a clear case of mistaken identity on the part of the officer, as the young man arrested bore an excellent reputation and that the evidence showed that the wrong man had been arrested.

Judge Stone thought differently, however, and a fine of $10 was imposed. The young man's father appealed and he was ordered to furnish $200 bonds for his appearance at a session of the Superior court which sits in September.

COMMUNICATION.The New Station.

To the Editor of the Townsman:

By far the most important article in the Warrant, which comes up for consideration at the Town meeting next Wednesday evening, is the one dealing with the new station. Indeed, it is one of the most vital subjects which the town has been called upon to deal with for a number of years.

There is no question in the minds of the citizens of the town, who are the most generous patrons of the B. & M., but that a new station has been a crying need in Andover for more than a score of years. The old station has been "a reproach and an abomination" so long that we have come to look upon it as something to be endured, hoping for a cure in the distant future. During all these years it has been the general opinion that a new location was needed as much as a new building. Situated as it is at present, its approach from Essex street in sloppy weather demands a mud scow or a modern Sir Walter Raleigh. In winter it is next to impossible to walk dry shod into the station. The writer has seen the plans of the new station, and there does not appear to be any provision made to overcome the existing nuisances.

All these ills can be avoided by moving the station 200 feet further south, or to a point almost at the foot of School street. This location has long been considered an ideal spot for the new station when the time for change arrived. There is a slight eminence just at that point, which would raise the station sufficiently to be seen by trains approaching either way. There is a better chance for architectural display and for beautified surroundings. It is a chance of a life time for Village Improvement.

Then there is the crossing difficulty, another consideration. Moving the station farther south means relieving the blocking at the crossing and the withdrawal of puffing and smoking engines from the houses around, at present a great nuisance to residents there. It may be that the convenience of the public will be better suited in the present location. Many citizens doubt it. It may be that there are engineering difficulties in making a change of location. They are not insurmountable. It may be there is not enough land at that point. Land can be bought, and bought reasonably, it is believed.

The engineers of the road are expected to be present at the town meeting and explain matters. It is to be hoped that the men who are always in the front for Andover's welfare will see to it that this much needed and long promised improvement is made not only in the interest of the B. & M., but for the public good and the town's improvement.

Burglaries Reported

It has been reported that several attempts at burglary have been made during the past week but fortunately none of them have been serious. On Wednesday night or early Thursday morning the Town farm was visited and several small articles including a sum of money were taken from the room occupied by the superintendent, George L. Burnham. Access to the building was gained through a window on the first floor, a screen being removed. Mr. Burnham said that he heard a slight noise some time during the night but thought that nothing unusual was going on as the inmates sometimes walk through the corridors during sleeping hours.

At the home of Olaf Benson on Harding street, burglars made a visit on Tuesday evening but nothing has been discovered to be missing. The intruders were evidently frightened away before they had stolen anything.

The burglars have also made a visit to the home of Maurice Curran and John Joyce in Frye Village but nothing of importance was taken.

At the home of Charles H. Hardy in West Parish, the thieves gained access to the cellar but nothing was stolen as the door leading to the rooms above were bolted securely. The foot prints were seen by Mr. Hardy on the cellar floor next morning.

The home of Daniel Murphy was broken into and a few articles of small value were stolen.

J. WILLIAM DEAN

A VETERAN'S REFLECTIONS.

Interesting Comment by a Long Time Legislative Observer, Regarding the Last Session.

The writer of the following communication to the Newton Graphic, Col. Edgar J. Bliss of Pittsfield, has spent his winters for many years in Boston, and, as a part-time, has written for many suburban newspapers about legislative matters. He is a Grand Army veteran and a close student of political affairs, and his comment is so interesting, and so worthy of a wide reading, his letter to the Graphic is printed here in full.

To the Editor of the Graphic:

The passing of Gethroism is the absorbing reflection to the observer of State House affairs, as the session of 1906 closed with the spectacular events of the ten days before prorogation.

What Gethro was guilty of, or the method of dealing with that unhappy young man, are questions of minor importance when compared with what might be termed Gethroism in legislation on Beacon Hill. The investigation was a very expensive affair and the cost to the Commonwealth was little short of unwarranted, unless the state shall be permanently benefited in the character of representation in the general court. That which stands for Gethroism, by no means originated with the career in the legislature of the Boston representative. His expulsion from the House that June afternoon was, let us hope, the fatal stab at a system of long standing on Beacon Hill, which can only be revised by the grossest negligence upon the part of those who may from time to time shape the course of legislative procedure from session to session and are guardians of methods and practices promoting legislation. It would be useless to contend that there can be no centralization of authority and influence in legislative methods as well as in legislation. Few are ignorant of the fact that the chances of success or failure of measures are largely dependent upon the endorsement of presiding officers and chairmen of committees. Such control should be as apparent in the realm of methods promoting legislation, even to the very outposts of law making, for it is at these points that the mischief often commences. An instance in point that might be mentioned, is the very bill that Gethro got out of court. The Bucket Shop bill, so called, was a measure, the merits of which were beyond question, but from its inception it was marked for slaughter, and its career is therefore an effectual and telling illustration of the issue which is here contended for. Every method, good, bad and indifferent, known to the art of law making, was applied to the Bucket Shop bill, and it, as well as Gethro, was made the scapegoat to carry sins "into a land not inhabited."

James Creelman says that no law can pass the national house without the consent of Speaker Cannon, so absolute is his influence, and he also says that the speaker's room in the National Capitol is the political nerve center of the country. What Cannon and his room are to the country at large, Speaker Cole and the rules committee room are to Massachusetts. The little room in the State House known as the Speaker's Room, where his committee on rules conducted the recent investigation, is really the nerve center of the Commonwealth, as truly as is the room in Washington where one of the most remarkable men in the country is "at home."

Now, when Mr. Cole and his committee on rules made the momentous report which led to the expulsion of Gethro, it set a new pace to affairs on Beacon Hill. In a degree, at least, old things will pass away and all things will become new. The unwarranted license enjoyed by certain representatives of the press and the lobby, will hereafter be curtailed to a considerable extent. These conditions will be but the natural outcome of this new order of things which will disappear that which was termed in the outset of this article, Gethroism.

Wedding

PRIOR-STONE.

Miss Alice May Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. N. L. Stone, of 173 High street, of this town, and Leon E. Prior of Richmond, Vt., were married at the home of the bride, Thursday afternoon, July 19, at four o'clock. The ceremony, which was a double ring service, was performed by Rev. William E. Lombard, pastor of the Baptist church.

The bride was dressed in point de sprit and wore a veil caught with orange blossoms. They were attended by the bride's sister, Miss Eva E. Stone, and Charles Prior, brother of the groom. After a brief wedding trip, which will be spent on Lake Champlain, they will reside in Richmond, Vt., where Mr. Prior is principal of the High school.

TOWNSMAN VICTORIOUS

The Telegram Defeated in the Annual Baseball Game on the Playstead. An Exciting Finish.

The Townsman baseball team won the annual game from their rivals, the Lawrence Telegram team, on the Playstead on Monday afternoon by the score of 13 to 12 in an exciting and interesting game. Some of the players on both teams were old-timers and they showed excellent form at both the bat and in the field. Naturally many errors were made but in most cases they were excusable, and on the other hand several plays that would do professionals credit were seen.

The Telegram team started off early in the game by making eight runs before the home team had scored and naturally they thought that they would have an easy time. The Townsman players were playing very cautiously, however, and showed that they possessed much reserve power which told as the game proceeded.

Runs were made in every inning after the third by the home team, and at the end of the eighth inning the score was tied, 10 to 10. In the ninth the Lawrence boys scored two runs giving them what they thought a safe lead. They were doomed to disappointment however, for when the Townsman braves went to the bat each man who made a hit was promised a present of a quarter's worth of cigars. This was a grand incentive, for Wood, the first man up, started the ball rolling by placing a beauty over first base. The next man went to first on an error, and Francis, the next batter, earned his cigars. One run resulted in these plays and the Telegram men were up in the air. A base on balls to Jimmie Dick, the Townsman's doughty catcher, again filled the bases. Dave was over anxious and was an easy out. It was up to the Speaker and he rose to the occasion. A nice hit over second tied the score and the shouting was loud and long. Our Albert then settled the matter and incidentally earned his weeds by hitting a beauty two bagger, scoring Francis and winning a great game.

The visiting team was made up of some good players such as "Bob" Pedlow, who was formerly a member of the Cinders, a champion team of a few years ago, P. K. A. Richardson, for many years first baseman on the Telegram team, Eddie Neal, an ex-umpire of the national game, "Jim" Moriarty, a corking good pitcher, "Bernie" Brown, a clever outfielder, "Jack" McGovern, who covered himself with glory on second, George Barnfield, who plays any position, especially short and catch, David Black and Joseph Marquis, both clever batsmen.

The Townsman team was composed of "Jimmie" Dick, who caught a great game, "Jim" Leslie, an able twirler, Francis Maroney, an excellent first baseman and fine base runner, Speaker Cole, a former second baseman on the old Nictus club, D. L. Coutts, (the writer) at short stop, George A. Christie, who covered third in great shape, and was especially strong on throws to first, Albert Ruhl, a fine addition to the team, Hiram Ayers, who caught one of the best flies in center field seen here this year, and Walter Vogel, an exceptionally clever right fielder. Xury T. Wood, and "Joe" Whittemore showed their old-time form when they substituted in the out

The Telegram was literally "smoked" out in the ninth.

Not a base on balls in nine innings. Good work—"Jeems"!

The first two fouls are strikes, Rich. Don't forget it when you play ball again.

"That's mine," said Davie. But the Speaker thought differently and got the put-out.

The "Ruhl" was good in the ninth. He met the ball with "Wood" and the game was over.

"Man-about-town" lost his notes in the ninth inning. His pipe dream was ruthlessly disturbed.

Editor Richardson played a faultless game at first. At the bat he had a fondness for fouling the ball.

If a man gets his base because the fielder isn't able to throw from third to first, is it a hit or an error?

"Hi" Ayers is a champion at hop, step and leap running bases, and an expert swimmer in the centerfield.

"Eddie" Neal of the Telegram must have studied under Manager McGraw of the New York Nationals. He was most strenuous.

It was worth the price of admission to see the Townsman's first baseman do an Irish jig between first and second. He's an original base stealer.

"Just watch the scare head in the Telegram tomorrow." That was at the end of the third inning. It was different at the end of the ninth.

The Telegram had four outs in the sixth inning, because a triple play was not claimed. It was thusly: Brown on first, McGovern on second and "Barnie" at the bat. He popped to Leslie, and Brown and McGovern made for second and third. Neither got back in time and both were out. The Townsman was crawling up then and could afford to be generous, so Brown only was given out.

"In the Public Eye" Column of the Boston Advertiser of Wednesday had the following: "Speaker Cole maintained his reputation as a doughty wielder of the willow as well as of the gavel in the annual baseball game played between the Andover Townsman, of which he is the publisher, and the Lawrence Telegram. The Speaker presided as shortstop, and did yeoman work at bat, being directly responsible for his team's ultimate triumph after a stiff up hill fight by the score of 13-12, Speaker Cole scoring the winning run."

The Baptist Sunday School Picnic.

The annual Baptist Sunday school picnic was held yesterday at Canobie Lake park. There was some delay experienced in starting from Andover, the special electric car being about an hour late. It was a jolly gathering, however, and what fun was lost by the long wait was made up during the day at the pleasant grove.

The grown-ups as well as the children enjoyed the swings, roller-coaster, hobby-horses, and all other amusements during the morning, and at noon a basket lunch was served. In the afternoon the fun was again taken up, and when the time for the return trip came everybody was tired and ready to go home. The committee in charge consisted of Perley F. Gilbert and Warren L. Johnson.

Representative G. Arthur Bodwell and Mrs. Bodwell, of Salem, have been spending two weeks with relatives in town.

SOCIOLICAL

Success of the Pollard Plan.

Judge William J. Pollard of the Second district police court of St. Louis tells in the Arena of the results of his plan of suspended sentence of men convicted of drunkenness during the past three years. He finds that not more than 2 per cent of those to whom the opportunity was given to reform had failed to take advantage of it. When these men come before him charged with intoxication he imposes a heavy fine or term of imprisonment and then offers a printed form pledging sobriety for the prisoner to sign. The condition is that he must report once every week during the time it runs. In case the man is unable to report at the court, the judge receives him at his residence. At these meetings he gives such advice and encouragement as he can, endeavoring to awaken the confidence and self respect of the paroled prisoners. Judge Pollard says that "virtually the man is enjoined from getting drunk." Of course the men who are hopelessly and utterly drunk depraved are not treated in this way by the judge. To them the usual punishment of imprisonment is meted out.

Census of the Deaf.
A special report on the blind and deaf just issued by the bureau of census shows that there were in the United States in 1900 64,763 blind persons. Of these 57.2 per cent were males. The most important causes of blindness were cataract, accidents and operations, old age and sore eyes. Almost 65 per cent of the blind became so after the age of twenty-one, thus proving the contention of the new associations that the blind need other help than that which is offered in the ordinary institutions. Of the blind of ten years or older 20 per cent were engaged in gainful occupations as compared with 50 per cent of the general population.

The total number of deaf in 1900 was 39,287, or 1 in 850 of the population. Of these 37,426 were totally deaf. Upon the whole, deafness is more common in the northern than the southern part of this country. Of the deaf 24,369 could not speak at all and 55,501 could speak well, the latter having lost their hearing in adult life in most cases. Of those of at least ten years of age 38.5 per cent were gainfully employed as compared with 50 per cent of the general population.

Gorky's Opinion of America.

In an article for Appleton's Book-lovers' Magazine for August Maxim Gorky, the Russian revolutionist and author, speaks out plainly what his impression of this country during his brief visit has been. Upon his arrival in New York, he says, he noticed on the dark bronze statue of the Goddess of Liberty green rust had accumulated, but he says he did not then know that the passionate idealism of the young democracy had also become covered with rust, "eating away the soul with the corrosive of commercialism." He did not realize that the disease of money craving had assumed such proportions in America. He says he loves energy, but not when men expend it for their own destruction. Everywhere he sees a senseless treadmill of labor, but nowhere do we feel the beauty of free creation. Nowhere, as in New York, have people seemed to him so unfortunate and so thoroughly enslaved to life, nowhere "so tragically self-satisfied as in this huge phantasmagoria of stone, iron and glass."

COMMERCIAL

Rogers Quits the Mutual.

At the last moment before the expiration of the time for the filing of nominations for trustees, July 18, it was announced that Henry H. Rogers and William Rockefeller, Standard Oil officials, would not allow their names to be placed on the Mutual's ticket and that four of the men already identified with the Policy Holders' committee would be named. It was generally understood that this course was adopted after it had been found impossible to get men of sufficient prominence to run as trustees representing the existing administration. At the same time it was made known that President Peabody would not be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Rogers gave as his reason for retiring the existing hostility of the public toward the Standard Oil company. He denies that he had anything to do with the election of Peabody. The four members of the Policy Holders' committee named by the administration are Judge Gray, H. N. Higginbotham, General Tracy and Alfred M. Shook. All promptly refused to permit their names to be so used.

Offer of Telephone Trust.

The New York and the New York and New Jersey Telephone companies have definitely refused to surrender their franchises to the New York city board of estimate and apply for new ones. They say that the only condition upon which they will treat with the city is that they have the monopoly of the telephone business, for which they will pay to the city annually stated sums beginning with $115,000 the first five years and this amount to be increased each succeeding five years until it reaches the amount of $200,000. The offer of the Atlantic Telephone company which seeks to enter the field was $2,080,000 for twenty-five years, whereas the trust offer would aggregate $3,500,000 for the same period. The trust also offers to supply the city government with telephone facilities at 50 per cent reduction and to state annually the earnings and expenses of the company and that they will so adjust rates to limit the net earnings to 10 per cent interest on actual invested capital. The Atlantic company offered to give an absolutely free service to the city.

Probing the Prudential.

A special committee of the New Jersey senate, appointed to investigate life insurance companies, began its work last week by calling on the Prudential Life in its home office at Newark. Witnesses were examined regarding the affairs of the three principal companies of the state—namely, the Prudential, Mutual Benefit and the Colonial. United States Senator Dryden was examined as head of the Prudential.

Beef Trust Suffers Shrinkage.

Figures compiled by the bureau of statistics shows that the export trade in canned beef alone decreased more than 50 per cent during the month of June as compared with that month in 1905, and there was a falling off in exports of more than $700,000 in the aggregate. As it was, much of the product exported went to fill contracts made before the disclosures of packing house conditions.

INDUSTRIAL

Harriman Orders Motors.

The Omaha car shops have received orders from President Harriman of the Union Pacific for twenty motor gasoline cars to be distributed over the country for the purpose of exploiting the merits of this type of railroad conveyance.

Kansas Slaughter Houses on Rack.

The Kansas board of health has ordered the commissioners of every county in the state to examine the local slaughter houses and to arrest and prosecute the owners who do not provide within five days satisfactory conditions.

Alcohol For Torpedo Boats.

The International Power company has purchased the Herreshoff patents and will bring to manufacture torpedo boats to be operated by alcohol motors. The boats will be of a type new to naval warfare. President Hoadley of the International Power says that "by the use of these motors they will make a torpedo boat of the same length and tonnage as any steam power boat with the saving of half the weight and half the draft. This will increase the radius of action for torpedo boat service and the alcohol motor boat will be able to make the transatlantic voyage."

A New York Brewery Combine.

The Breweries' Bond and Security company, which was organized some time ago to take over independent brewery companies in New York and vicinity, has closed contracts with ten companies and completed negotiations with seven others. This will give the trust a producing capacity of 2,300,000 barrels and will make it the largest brewery combine in the world.

Chicago "L" Roads to Merge.

It has been decided to form a holding company to take over all four of the elevated railroads of Chicago. It will assume all of the bonds of the present companies without change of form.

Pipe Trust to Dissolve.

The allied companies of the sewer pipe trust, through their attorney, announced at Jamestown, N. Y., that the combination would be dissolved rather than submit to the investigation of the federal grand jury. The promise was accepted at its face value and the investigation was abandoned just as the testimony was about to be submitted to the jury. But the trust will have to furnish proof of final dissolution to the attorney general.

Grocers Approve Packers.

The Chicago meat packing companies received a clean bill of health at the hands of the executive committee of the National Wholesale Grocers' association at Chicago. The sentiment of the twenty-five members of the committee was general that the products had always been found clean, wholesome and up to standard grades.

LABOR

Unionists Quit Labor Party.

The San Francisco Labor council has withdrawn all responsibility for the acts of the union labor party of that city on account of the alleged surrender of the public rights, especially in the passage of the trolley ordinance on the basis of cheapness of construction and operation.

Strikes at Union Basis.

Commandant Lutze of the Washington navy yard proposes putting the men on piece-work or else resorting to the premium system. While the latter plan admits the right of the union to say what a workman's maximum output shall be, it permits him to do more work voluntarily at a proportionate increase in pay. The labor unions represented have asked to be heard on these propositions.

Plumbers Threaten General Strike.

A strike of the New York city plumbers local No. 2 for $5.25 per day developed a peculiar situation when the master plumbers succeeded in making an agreement with local No. 480 at a compromise figure of $5.00 per day. In the meantime local No. 2 had offered to go to work for $5.00 and the Associated Building trades was appealed to. The master plumbers were notified that if the new men were not discharged a general strike would be ordered affecting 100,000 workmen and paralyzing the building trades of the city.

Victory For Open Shop Claimed.

In an address at the annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers at Buffalo President James W. Van Cleave congratulated the organization on its success in winning the victory for the open shop. He said the American people were with them in their fight for liberty and that they would win as surely as the sun would rise. As to the latest move of organized labor to go into politics, he felt confident that the more widely the proposal was set forth the more damaging to that idea the result would be.

SCIENTIFIC

New Light on Appendicitis.

A noted German physician, Dr. Bergman, at a meeting of the Berlin Medical association, agreed with others present that the clinical diagnosis of appendicitis seldom permitted an accurate judgment of the case, and serious doubt of the value of operations was expressed. Professor Orth said that in 10 per cent of his cases the appendix did not confirm the diagnosis, and in another 10 per cent there was no disease whatsoever, while he knew of many serious cases which had been cured without operating.

New Lockjaw Treatment.

A new treatment for lockjaw has been used successfully in two cases at the Pennsylvania hospital in Philadelphia. It is simply a more rational use of the tetanus antitoxin. Heretofore it has been the practice to make the injection in the spinal cord without regard to the locality of the infection. Now the plan is to inject into a nerve close to the point of infection.

The Earth a Self Heater.

Professor Charles Thwing announces as a result of his researches at the Western Reserve university that the common metals and rocks of which the earth is constituted have the internal temperature due to radio activity. He estimates that the heat thus constantly generated will maintain the earth at its present temperature for many millions of years, and he concludes that at least a part of the sun's heat is due to the same principle within itself.

EDUCATIONAL

School Books in Politics.

A committee of the Chicago school board has recommended that a central committee of teachers pass on all books now in use or hereafter adopted by the public schools. This teachers' committee would be elected by a delegate convention selected at a sort of general election, and it means virtually turning the control of the public schools over to the Teachers' federation.

Professors to Get Pensions.

The executive committee of the Carnegie foundation for the advancement of teaching has announced a list of forty-six colleges which are to receive gifts for the benefit of deserving professors. From this list are omitted all institutions having formal denominational connections or which require their trustees to belong to a particular church. It omits also all institutions controlled and supported by a state or municipality and always follow below the academic standard of the college which the trustees have adopted.

MISCELLANEOUS

Death of Alfred Beit.

Alfred Beit, the diamond king, who was credited with being the richest man in Great Britain, died in London July 16. At Pretoria it was said that his estate would be vested in the trustees of the Cecil Rhodes estate, and that a great university would be endowed on a prodigious scale on the Sachsenwald estate between Pretoria and Johannesburg. Other public bequests were expected.

A surprising feature of his life, as shown by insurance policies in the Equitable, was that they were made payable "to my wife if living," naming Miss Elizabeth Bennett as beneficiary. Mr. Beit was born at Hamburg in 1853. He was always known to the public as a confirmed bachelor living in great retirement.

Death of Lady Curzon.

Lady Curzon, wife of the former viceroy of India and daughter of the millionaire Leiter family of Chicago, died in London July 18. She had never recovered from the illness of two years ago.

Crack Regiment For Dreyfus.

The French government has assigned Major Dreyfus to the command of the Twelfth regiment of artillery at Vincennes, which takes part in state functions at the capital. General Picquart has been designated to serve on the staff of the military governor of Paris.

Alaska's Capital Changed.

The capital of Alaska was changed from Sitka to Juneau July 19, when Governor Hoggatt rented rooms at the court buildings at Juneau for an office. The attorney general decided that this action effected the change.

ST. MARY'S COUNCIL, K. OF C. HELD OUTING.

At Graichen's grove at Hampshire Roads Saturday afternoon, St. Mary's Council, 559, Knights of Columbus held a most enjoyable outing. About 100 members were present. A number of guests were present from Boston, Melrose, Haverhill and other places. The party went to the grove on electric, the majority going shortly after 12 o'clock.

Upon arriving at the grounds, a lunch was served, after which sports were started. A baseball game was played and the single men won by a score of 16 to 14. The playing of O'Connell for the single men was the feature of the game. Jack Minahan and Jack Daly umpired.

The dinner was served about 2.30 o'clock, being prepared by Caterer Thomas Roan. The post prandial exercises followed, and Grand Knight John J. Hart acted as toastmaster. The following rendered solos: Arthur D. Holmes, W. B. Bartley, B. Keaveney, Andrew Doherty, John Hawley, and Charles A. Brown. Remarks were made by Acting Mayor Michael Welch, Daniel W. Mahony, Thomas F. Connor, Timothy F. Donovan.

After the program had been completed the party repaired to the athletic field, where the following sports were run off: 100 yards dash, won by Joseph A. Hurley. Prize, umbrella, donated by Daniel A. Donahue. Fat men's race, won by John Hawley, John P. McCusker, second. First prize, a pipe, donated by W. A. Kellher; second, a pair of suspenders, donated by John J. Hart. Hop, step and a jump, won by John F. Murphy, prize a pair of K. of C. cuff buttons, donated by Frank P. Quinn. Three-legged race, won by Martin Sullivan and Thomas Murray. Prizes K. of C. cuffs, donated by Frank P. Quinn. Putting the shot, won by Robert T. Hoar, prize, a pipe, donated by T. F. Delaney. Sack race, Arthur T. Mullen, prize a pipe, donated by A. D. Holmes.

The big ball game was then played between the two picked teams, one captained by Jack Kane and the other by P. J. Hennessey. The teams lined up as follows: Kane's team, Dolan, C. Murphy, K. Kellher, B. Mulcahy, B. Kane, ss, Murphy, 3b, Brown, 1b, Keaveney, rf, Hughes, cf, Hennessey's team: Fleming, c, Griffin, p, Coskren, 1b, Carter, 2b, Hennessey, ss, Condon, 3b, Reynold's team won by a score of 7 to 3. Garrett Burke officiated as umpire. David D. Daly was starter in the races and Thomas J. Condon acted as referee.

The following had charge of the affair and they saw to it that all were hospitably received: Grand Knight John J. Hart, chairman, W. R. Adams, secretary, Timothy M. Elley, treasurer, Michael J. Loftus, Timothy Donovan, David D. Daly, Thomas J. Condon, Andrew Doherty, and John Turner.

These were present: Grand Knight John J. Hart, James H. Hyland, Dr. M. F. Sullivan, Dr. Anthony Fleming, Acting Mayor Welch, Councilman Joseph T. Torney, John Tobin, William B. OLD ORCHARD EXCURSION, AUGUST 9th.
Maine R. R.
Old Orchard, New England's popular seashore resort, has been selected again this year by the Boston and Maine R. R. as the destination for the excursionists on August 9th. Old Orchard with its delightful seashore and magnificent beach and its hundreds of amusement and entertainment places, is perhaps the most popular of the New England coast resorts. The magnificent hotels offer every inducement to the excursionist to enjoy that untold of luxuries, a shore dinner. The round trip rate via the Boston and Maine R. R. good going and returning on special train on this date is $1.50. Special train will leave Lowell at 8.15 a. m., Lawrence 8.40 a. m., South Lawrence, 8.45 a. m. Returning leave Old Orchard at 5.10 p. m.

AFTER GETTING ABOARD.

Howell—"You shouldn't run for a street-car; it's bad for your heart."
Powell—"Worse than that; it's bad for my fountain pen."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., is the only constitutional cure known to date. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

To the Honorable the Justices of the Superior Court within and for the County of Essex:

RESPECTFULLY I believe and represents Eva M. Whitten of Andover, in said County, that she was lawfully married to Herbert S. Whitten, now of parts unknown, at said Andover, on the twelfth day of June, A. D. 1895, and thereafter, wards your libellant and the said Herbert S. Whitten lived together as husband and wife in this commonwealth, to wit, at said Andover, until on or about the fifteenth day of September, A. D. 1895; that your libellant has always been faithful to her marriage vows and obligations, but the said Herbert S. Whitten being wholly regardless of the same, at Andover aforesaid, has been guilty of cruel and abusive treatment of your libellant, and the said Herbert S. Whitten has contracted gross and confirmed habits of intoxication caused by the voluntary and excessive use of intoxicating liquor, between the date of said marriage and the date of this libel.

And said libellant further represents that there have been born as the result of her said marriage with the said Herbert S. Whitten, the following children: Laura May Whitten, born Aug. 29, 1895; Howard Garfield Whitten, born November 30, 1896; Gladys Evelyn Whitten, born October 2, 1900.

Wherefore your libellant prays that a divorce from the bonds of matrimony be decreed between your libellant and the said Herbert S. Whitten, and that the custody of said minor children be decreed to your libellant and for such other relief as equity and justice require and to your honors seems meet.

Dated this twenty-seventh day of June, A. D. 1906. EVA M. WHITTEN

Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

SUPERIOR COURT.

Upon the foregoing libel, ordered, that the said libellant give notice to said Herbert S. Whitten by causing an attested copy of her said libel, and of this order thereon, to be published in the Andover Townsman, a newspaper printed in Andover, in the County of Essex, and which is published three times successively, the last publication to be fourteen days at least before the return day of this court, at Salem, within the County of Essex, on the first Monday of September next, and by mailing, forthwith, by registered letter, addressed to the last known place of residence, an attested copy of said libel and order thereon; that he may appear at Salem within six months from said first Monday of September next and answer to the said libel, and the prayer of said libel should not be granted.

Attest, E. B. GEORGE, CLERK.

The foregoing is a true copy of said libel and of the order thereon.

Attest, E. B. GEORGE, CLERK.

FIGHTING COCKS IN DEMAND.

From the London Daily Mail.
The export of fighting cocks to the Colonies has been on the increase. Almost every liner that sails from Southampton for Cape Colony carries a consignments of these feathered gladiators.Cock fighting is not only permitted by law in Cape Colony, but it has become almost a national pastime and exhibitions of fighting cocks are as well established there as dog shows in this country. A large number of British fighting cocks are also sent to the west coast States of America.
Nor has cock fighting become extinct
in this country, though forbidden by law. In the Black Country, around Oldbury, Wednesday, and West Bromwich, it flourishes, patronized chiefly
by the brawny puddlers on a Sunday morning. Most of the spurs, Wallasil-ver and steel, are made at Walsall;
they are intended for export, and are not easily obtainable for home fights.There still lives in North Warwickshire the representative of a family
which for generations has been devoted to the breeding of fighting cocks.

LAWRENCE

TRUSTEE EO RUN ARLINGTON
CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION.At a meeting of the stockholders of the Arlington Co-operative association
Wednesday night it was voted on advice of counsel, to turn the property
over to Richard Carden, the president,
as trustee, the intention being to have him continue the business a year, with the hope of restoring confidence.The resignation of Thomas White as manager was accepted. It was stated that the organization, while it had not lost money under recent management,
still the finances were not in as favorable condition as the stockholders
had expected.The organization, which for years
had enjoyed the reputation of being the most successful cooperative concern
in the country, had a setback about two years ago, when it had learned that there had been a material shrinkage
in its assets, a supposed sinking fund
having been wiped out. George Dew-hurst, the clerk, who had conducted the business during that period, was subsequently sentenced to a year in the house of correction on the charge of making false returns. There followed a heavy draw upon the treasury
with the withdrawal of the members,
but a number pledged themselves to allow their stock to remain, in an effort
to re-establish the association in public
favor.ASSIGNED TO RICHARD CARDEN
The Arlington Co-operative association made an assignment to Richard Carden this morning. This action is taken as a result of a meeting of the association last evening at which the resignation of Clerk Thomas White was accepted and Richard Carden appointed trustee.President Carden was seen this noon
at the office of Coulson & Murphy, attorneys for the association, and through
Mr. Murphy made the following statement:"The association is now, and has been for some time past, in much better condition than for some time previously. The action taken last evening in appointment me as assignee was done in order that all stockholders might have equal justice and protection. It was deemed advisable to take such action so as to do away with any unnecessary action on the part of persons who do not know the true situation
of affairs. Naturally, with unfounded rumors abroad as to the past clerk, Mr. White, some uneasiness might exist in the minds of its members as to the condition
of the affairs of the association.
You can say for me and for the directors that there has been no
misappropriation of funds on the part of the past clerk, Mr. White,
so far as I or they know or suspect. In fact, Mr. White, as clerk, had nothing whatsoever to do with the handling of the cash of the association."In order, therefore, to set at rest
this matter and the best to conserve the interests of all the stockholders, the stockholders, last night
unanimously voted to place the responsibility of the business for a time in my hands, with the expectation that in a short period of time, with centralized management
and individual responsibility, the affairs of the association would be placed in such a favorable condition
that the question of the continuance of the association as a business organization would admit of no doubt in the minds of all its members and the general public.
It is the purpose of the assignee
to take an immediate inventory
and appraisal of the stock,
funds and real estate of the association, to ascertain its present true condition, to the end
that he may work with an intelligent comprehension of the possibilities of a full and complete restoration of the organization. You may say, personally, that I am particularly gratified at the interest and reasonableness shown by the members at the meeting on Wednesday evening.It is not conceivable to me that,
viewed from a business standpoint,
there should be relinquished at this time, or in the future, the benefits
arising through a co-operative efforting with an Association having, to the best of my knowledge and belief, $115,000 of sound and solid assets.""I wish to say to those immediately interested as members, that I hope, I trust, and so far as I expect,
that they will enter into the effort
that is being made in their behalf to re-establish beyond the per-petrations of doubt, the Arlington
Co-operative Association as a business proposition, not only with its old-time reputation as such, but
with the firm realization that at no distant day the Association will be able to itself a record in cooperative lines that will exceed its best records of the past."Notice of the action taken was sent today to all stockholders with the request that all co-operate for the common good.BOARD OF HEALTH TO ENFORCE LAW ON BURIALS.Because of frequent disregard of the law in relation to burials the board of health has adopted the following revised regulations, incorporating several sections of Chapter 78 of the revised laws:Section 39. No undertaker or other person shall bury in a city or town a human body or the ashes thereof
which have been brought into this Commonwealth until he has received a permit so to do from the board of health or its agent appointed to issue
such permits, or if there is no such agent, from the clerk of the city or town in which the body is to be buried
or the funeral is to be held, or from a person appointed to have the care of the cemetery or the burial ground in which the interment is made. If a record is kept of the names of all persons buried therein, or from a duly appointed superintendent of burials in such city or town who keeps a record of interments. Such permit shall not be issued until the undertaker or other person has delivered a certificate to
said board of health, agent, clerk,
superintendent or person having such
care, giving the name of the deceased,
his age as nearly as can be ascertained,
the cause of death, the name of the city or town in which he last resided or from which the body was brought, or, if the death occurred at sea the name of the vessel upon which it occurred, and any other facts required for record which could be obtained with reasonable exertion. The board of health or its agents or the
superintendent or person having such
care, shall upon receipt of such certificate, forthwith countersign and transmit it to the city or town clerk;
and if the deceased was a resident of

Clipping Expenses

THE National Cigar Stands have taken cigars out of the class of expensive luxuries. They save smokers nearly one-half their cigar money, and give them better-made, better-kept and better-quality cigars besides. Tobacco itself is not immensely expensive. The great cost of cigars has always been in the wasteful way in which they were sold. No other merchandise of such common use passed through so many hands and was loaded with so many profits between producer and consumer. The National plan reduces cost, not by reducing quality, but by cutting off all the "lost motion" in handling and all unnecessary profits. National Cigar Stands' cigars come to you straight from the producer. Just to see what this means in getting quality-for-price, try the

was at the time of his death a resident of any other city or town within this Commonwealth said clerk shall forthwith forward to the clerk thereof a cord the same."Section 40. No person having the care of a cemetery or burial ground

shall permit a human body to be buried therein, or such body or the ashes
thereof to be removed therefrom, until the permit for such burial or removal
has been delivered to him, nor permit
the ashes of a human body to be buried
until there has been delivered to him
a certificate that the burial permit and
the certificate of the medical examiner prerequisite of the cremating of said body
have been duly presented."Section 41. An undertaker shall not bury the ashes of a human body
until he has received from the person
having charge of the crematory a certificate that the burial permit and the certificate of the medical examiner pre-
requisite of the cremating of said body
have been duly presented."Section 42. Whoever violates any of the provisions of the four preceding sections shall forfeit not more than fifty dollars."Regulation 57. The board of health requires as conditions of all undertakers' licenses:1st. A permit be obtained in all cases before the burial of a body.2nd. Before the burial of a body brought from outside of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, a Permit
must be obtained from the local Board of Health.3rd. When a body is brought to this city for burial from any other city or town within the Commonwealth, the undertaker receiving and burying such body, shall within twenty-four hours
after the burial takes place, file in the office of the Board of Health a full and complete return of the death and
burial, on the regular blank form
furnished for that purpose by the Health Department.Regulation 58. Whenever an undertaker is called to take charge of the funeral rites of a person dying without medical attendance, he shall immediately give notice of the same at the office of the Board of Health.The Agent or Clerk shall thereupon investigate the case and find a physician to sign the death certificate, or take such other action as may be necessary in the matter.LOCAL MAN REELECTED FOR NINETEENTH TIME.The annual session of the grand lodges of the Order of Sons of St.
George, opened in Elk hall, Worcester,
yesterday. The order, which is a fraternal beneficiary one, and confined to Englishmen, their sons and grandsons, has taken on a new lease
of life in this state the past year and the officers' reports are very encouraging. The sword and shield offered by Bro. Rudd for the lodge making the largest gain for the year was award-ed to Friendship lodge with 47 new members. Prince Consort standing near with 46. An official organ had been established and the number of suspensions was lower than in any previous year.The new grand officers were installed
yesterday afternoon as follows: Grand president, William Taylor of Northampton; grand vice-president, Samuel Holgate of Lowell; grand secretary,
John W. C. Sargent of Westminister;
grand treasurer (for the 19th year),
Lawrence Davenport of Lawrence;
grand trustee, William F. Barlow of East Boston; chairman of appeals and grievances committee, Thomas Barrows of Boston. These officers were elected at the session held here at Odd Fellows' temple last year.CAPT. DONOVAN OF CO. F INJURED HIS HAND MONDAY.Company F, Capt. Donovan commanding, of this city, rendered valuable assistance in the rescue work at the collapsed building in South Framingham.The duty of the Ninth Infantry at the catastrophe was made official by the issue of a precept to Gen. Whiteney by the selectmen of Framingham.
This gave the military a firmer hold
on the situation, and at the same time
necessitated the calling of them off
from doing the work of laborers, so that now the militiamen are simply acting as guardsmen.During the strenuous hours of Monday night a number of members of the regiment were prostrated by the heat;
but Tuesday morning all were reported as recovered. Captain Donovan of the Lawrence company while handling wires about the building had his hand badly punctured. He was attended by the regimental surgeons and was about the field Tuesday with his hand
in a bandage.COUNTY WILL NOT BORAD ITS EMPLOYEESThe county commissioners have voted that on and after August 16, no county employe at jails and houses of correction should be boarded at county expense. It has long been the custom of the Ipswich house of correction and the Lawrence jail and house of correction to furnish the officers of these institutions with their three meals a day. In consideration of this they have not received the same pay as officers
in the Salem jail and house of correction.The county commissioners do not think that this is an economical way to business. The pay of the officers in Ipswich and Lawrence jail will be raised to the same amount as in other institutions where board is in other institutions. The change will result in a saving to the county and will probably be just as well for the employes in the end.Little Rollo—"Pop, what is an upright piano?"

music, my son."DOYLE NOT KILLED BY AN ELEC-TRIC CAR.The following inquest report on the death of James F. Doyle was given out by Judge Rowell Tuesday morning:COMMONWEALTH OF MASSA-CHUSETTS.

Essex ss. Police Court of Lawrence.

An inquest relating to the death of James F. Doyle was held by me in the Police Court of Lawrence on July 16, 1906, and by continuance on July 19, 1906, and I find and report as follows:On June 18, 1906 about 10.20 p. m.,
the body of James F. Doyle was discovered lying near the track of the Boston & Northern Street Railway in North Andover on the Salem Turnpike
about half way between Farnham's turnout and the Ledge turnout. The discovery was made by the motorman
of a car running from Lawrence, to Salem which had left Farnham's turnout at 10.15 p. m. and was running
toward the next turnout at the Ledge.
The man was not killed by this car.
He was seen by motorman and passengers, who were in the front vestibule,
before the car reached him lying too far from the track to be struck by the car. After passing him the car was stopped and run back by the body without touching it. The front of the skull was crushed in, which was the only serious injury. At the time this car passed the exposed parts of the body, the face and hands, were cold,
but the parts protected by clothing were warm. This car had passed at Farnham's turnout a car bound toward Lawrence, and this north bound car had passed the place where the body was lying about ten minutes before it was discovered by the people on the south-bound car. The crew of the north-bound car saw nothing of the man when they passed; that car
was examined on the same night at the car-barn and no sign of accident was discovered. Witnesses observed the track of an automobile upon the highway some eight or ten feet from where the body was lying. The crew of the northbound car passed an automobile
standing in the highway headed south
with three men standing beside it just north of the ledge. This automobile would naturally have passed the place
where the body was found about twenty minutes before the body was discovered.It is unlikely that the injuries which caused this man's death were the result of a fall without other violence.
There was evidence that he had been drinking; and it is possible that he was lying near the track and when the northbound car passed raised himself
enough to be struck by it; there is a strip of grass and weeds between the highway and the track that partly concealed the body and made it easier than it otherwise would have been for the motorman of the northbound car to pass the man either living or dead
without seeing him. In case his death was caused by the northbound car, I find that no blame therefor attachesto the Street Railway or its employes.
On the whole, however, it seems to me
most likely that this man came to his death by some violent means of which
no evidence was given before me.WILBUR E. ROWELL, Special Justice of the Police Court
of Lawrence.VETERANS EXEMPT
UNDER THE NEW LAW.The new law in regard to exempting civil war veterans and their widows
from taxation as approved by the governor last April, is as follows:Section 1—Soldiers and sailors who served in the military or naval service of the United States in the war
of the rebellion, and who were honorably discharged therefrom, shall, at their request, be exempt from the assessment of a poll tax, and the property of soldiers and sailors who served a satisfactory and were honorably discharged as aforesaid, but who would not be entitled to exemption under the 13th clause of section 5 of chapter 12
of the Revised Laws, and the property of the wives or widows of such soldiers or sailors, shall be exempted from taxation to the amount of $1000
in the case of each person; provided that the whole estate real and personal of the person so exempted does not exceed in value the sum of $5000;
and provided, further, that only $1000
shall be exempted to any one family,
and that the combined property of the family does not exceed $5000.Section 2—The widows of soldiers and sailors who served as aforesaid
and who lost their lives in the war
of the rebellion shall be entitled to such exemption from taxation as is specified in the 13th clause of section 5 of chapter 12 of the Revised Laws.Section 3—This act shall take effect upon its passage. (Approved by the governor, April, 1906.)

In Camp at Haggett's

Co. B, 1st Reg. U. S. B. A., of Somerville, has been enjoying a two weeks' vacation at camp Klondike, Haggett's Pond.

Except for a few minor accidents the boys have enjoyed themselves very much.

The boys were invited out to a spread last Tuesday night at Mr. and Mrs. Towles, where they had a very good time.

After a short drill the boys had an entertainment and refreshments.

Thursday night, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Spickard entertained General and Mrs. Bridgman and Co. B, 1st Regt., U. S. B. A., of Somerville.

The boys gave a drill, after which a large musical entertainment and refreshments were enjoyed.

All went back to camp feeling they'd had the time of their lives.

Friday night, the boys thought they would square accounts, so they gave an entertainment of fireworks with a large bonfire, on which they had a dummy representing a hungry boy.

NEW ENGLAND'S COAST RESORTS

Boston & Maine R. R. Literature which describes and details the North Shore Beaches.

The call from the Seashore has already sounded! Vacation dreams were planted months ago but the advent of the hot weather and the sultriness of city heat have set in bloom and matured the early seedlings and budding plans of previous days.

Vacation days are already here! The seashore resorts are already preparing to receive the thousands of vacationists from Northern New England, from Boston Harbor to the Bay of Fundy, will be welcoming the resorters.

Massachusetts has certainly a gay procession of seashore resorts. The North Shore, whose unbounded fame gains year by year, boasts of everything that is best in the seashore line.

Swampscott, with its magnificent palatial summer hotels and delightful opportunities for bathing; Marblehead, famed for its spacious harbor where congregate the fleets of summer yachtsmen and the admirable location of the summer colony at the Neck; Beach Bluff, Clifton, Devereaux, Manchester, Magnolia, Gloucester, Rockport, Plum Island and Salisbury Beach; New Hampshire has not so much to offer in her shore resorts as to number, but the beauties and attractions of Hampton and Rye, the fame of Newcastle with its pever to be forgotten "Peace Conference Association" well balance any laxity in number.

Maine is the premier shore land of the United States. Her entire coast from Kittery to Eastport is a stretch of broken coast land which forms beautiful harbors and coves, the most magnificent summer resorts to be found anywhere.

York, Old Orchard, the queen of the North Atlantic beaches, Scarborough, Wells, Kennebunk, Peaks Island and so on to Bar Harbor, Maine's shore possessions are numerous and attractive. In order to fully appreciate the glories of New England's coast, one should spend a vacation at some of these resorts.

The Boston & Maine R. R. will give you all the necessary directions. In the Hotel Booklet for 1906 will be found a list of all the shore resorts, their hotels and accommodations, and a beautifully illustrated and descriptive booklet called "All Along Shore" describing in detail the glories of the North Atlantic Coast.

will be sent upon receipt of two-cent stamp. The Hotel Booklet will be sent free by the General Passenger Department, Boston & Maine R. R., Boston.

A delightfully illustrated portfolio containing thirty-one beautiful half tone reproductions of the choicest views along the shore will be mailed upon receipt of six cents in stamps.

Baseball

Ballard Vale 6, Lions 4

Ballard Vale won their eighth victory of the season by defeating the Lions of Lowell on the Plains, Saturday afternoon by a score of 6 to 4.

The game was largely a pitcher's battle with the honors with Cronin of the home team, who struck out 14 men and held the visitors down to three hits, one of these a scratch infield hit. He was given perfect support behind the bat by Daley, who caught a star game.

For the visitors Tighe pitched good ball, but was given poor support.

Burke threw well to bases, Jordan played fast ball at third base.

CRICKET

Poor cricketing weather was experienced on Saturday, when Mohair of Lowell visited the local grounds in search of points.

They had the honor of being at the top of the league and came fully determined to hold that favored position.

Lawrence went first to the bat, Gill and Haddon facing the bowling of Moseley and Shaw. Runs came very slow, the batsman taking no liberties until Haddon and Walker got together, when a respectable score was put on.

The fine bowling of Wade and Walker won the match, but no little credit is due the patient innings of Haddon, who played faultless cricket. The decisions of the umpires were very doubtful, no less than three being given out l.b.w.
